

Full Biography

Yaschica Agoro — for media and press use

Yaschica Agoro is a U.S. Army veteran, entrepreneur, educator, and business strategist whose career spans healthcare, higher education, workforce development, recruiting, training, and business growth.

Throughout her career, she has helped professionals develop skills, organizations strengthen their workforce, and entrepreneurs turn knowledge into practical opportunities.

As founder of Nubia.LUXE, Yaschica brings together business strategy, education, AI, career development, and entrepreneurship to help people recognize the value already inside their experience.

Her signature platform, From Experiences to Empire™, challenges audiences to move beyond simply collecting experience and begin converting what they have lived, learned, led, and overcome into impact, income, ownership, and legacy.
